Helping you manage the complexity of R&D taxation, incentives and commercialisation issues.

KPMG's Research & Development (R&D) Incentives group is a professional team assisting a diverse range of local, national and multinational clients in many aspects of research, development, grant funding, management and commercialisation of technology.

KPMG's R&D Incentives advisory group is the largest and most experienced R&D Incentives advisory group in Australia comprising of over 100 specialist consultants, including 12 in Adelaide. Our team is experienced in dealing with the complexity of R&D taxation, obtaining government funding and advising on issues involved with the conduct of large innovative projects. We have extensive experience in dealing with federal and state government agencies and assisting companies and government groups to identify grants, incentives and other assistance schemes.

Our people are all exclusive R&D specialists drawn from disciplines including biotechnology, mathematics, finance, engineering, science, law, information technology and accounting who aim to ensure clients receive the best possible advice and support. This distinction is important in evaluating the depth of capability that will be delivered by KPMG personnel.

Our clients cover many industries including:

- energy and natural resources
- plastics and chemicals
- manufacturing
- banking and finance
- agriculture, dairy and viticulture
- food processing
- biotechnology
- forestry and wood products manufacturing
- aquaculture
- mining
- environmental engineering
- information systems, electronics and telecommunications.
